Statement of Need: Due to the depth and complexity of new therapies and technological advances available to Hospital Medicine physicians, it is challenging for busy practitioners to remain current in their practice. This one-day program will address this evolving discipline and present up-to-date information on the latest research and techniques to positively impact care to patients in everyday practice. Through lectures and Q&A, participants will improve their knowledge be able to address and fill the gaps in their current practice.

Program Objectives: All Northwell Health CME activities are intended to improve patient care, safety, and outcomes. At the conclusion of this conference participants should be able to:

- Review strategies to deliver optimal, high value-based care in hospital medicine.
- Describe management techniques for opioid dependence for hospitalized patients
- Review methods to use evidence-based medicine in daily hospital medicine practice in teaching and non-teaching environments
- Discuss recent updates from hospital medicine peer reviewed literature.
- Hypothesize how new clinical practice guidelines will improve daily patient care.

Target Audience: This activity was planned by for MDs. All other members of the healthcare team who are interested in Hospitalist Medicine including PAs, NPs, Residents and Fellows are invited to attend.
